RON

That girl you took to the prom?

STEVE

Want you to come over and meet her. Got a beautiful little kid. Jessica. A beauty... yeah, Massapequa's changed Ronnie, it's no Mom and Pop operation anymore. The old fucks in Congress can't rep this District anymore... Prices, real estate values -- everything's shot up. The Marchesi brothers are cutting down Sally's woods for a sewage disposal dump... Can you believe that...

Moving with RON through the operation to his OFFICE.

STEVE

...I wanna push out Ronnie. Copiague, Jericho, Bayville, Valley Stream -- I wanna make "Boyer's" a whole Long Island thing, I want something better for the people of Long Island than McDonald's and Colonel Sander's... This is our town now Ronnie...

57 INT. STEVE'S OFFICE - DAY

57

There in Stevie's Inner Office with telephone, scrawled notes, pictures on the wall addressing business groups, receiving an award. A magnetized football game, a new color TV...hitting the Long Island map on the wall.

STEVE

...and I want you to come to work for me.. with me...

RON looking at a picture of STEVE'S new wife and the little child.

RON

What do you mean...I mean what are you...

STEVE

I mean I want you to come to work for me. You're part of it Ron, this is the time to get in on it... You're a war hero and you can benefit...you should.

RON

What...what do you think I could do?

STEVE

Well...I mean...eventually you could be a manager of one of these places...right here in Massapequa if you want...just like your Dad...

RON

Yeah, but I...I don't really want to be in a store y'know why... It's not for me...

STEVE

You gotta keep busy Ronnie, y'know, and I think in a few years with hard work you could be a rich man...

RON

It's real nice of you Steve but y'know, I get 17 hundred a month from the Government and I just wanna look around a little bit right now y'know.

STEVE

Ronnie, that's charity money. This isn't.

A troubled look from RON, who then conceals it, wheels around the little office looking at objects. STEVE doesn't realize.

STEVE

I'm saying, you gotta put the war behind you Ron, you gotta forget about that chair you're in.

RON

(soft)

Yeah...sometimes you know I think people.. they know you're back from Vietnam, their face changes...the eyes, the voice...the way they look at you...

(reflective)

...yeah...the people here...they don't give a shit about the war Ron. To them it's a million miles away. And it's all bullshit anyway. The government sold us a bill of goods and we bought it. And we got the shit kicked out of us! For what? For lies -- for bullshit lies...

RON

(softly)

Whaddaya mean "we" Steve? You were in college...

STEVE

Hey, I mean we all believed it Ronnie. We saw it on Television. We all lived...

RON

On television? What are you talking about Steve, I don't know what you mean, you saying nobody believes it now?

STEVE

(defensive now)

...it was you bought that Communist bullshit Ronnie... They were gonna take over the world, Finelli, you, Walsh, the whole town was devastated...for what? For bullshit...

RON

Hey, no...no...don't tell me that Steve. I didn't know nothing. I didn't know.. anything... I believed -- I believe -- in that fucking war okay? ...and I'm not too crazy about people running around saying...

STEVE

Hey Ronnie I didn't mean...

RON

I mean I gave three quarters of my body for that war Steve and if you give three quarters of your body for something you'd better believe it man, you'd better fucking believe it...

STEVE

Look Ron...hey peace brother...

He flashes a peace sign.

RON

Steve I don't...

STEVE

Ronnie, Ronnie, I understand your anger...I sympathize with it...and you got every right in the world... but you can sit in that chair and you can piss and moan about the war all you want, you can go down to Times Square and pass out leaflets, you can demonstrate, but it ain't gonna change a thing...but if you wanna job...if you wanna start over again and put it behind you...then I'll give you one... I'm here for you...but if your head's not gonna be there Ronnie...then I don't know what I can do for you...I don't know...

his hugging...but RON has been turned inside out. And isn't...

STEVE

your time -- peace man...

Flashing the peace sign once more.

DISSOLVE TO:

58 EXT. 2nd 4th OF JULY PARADE - DAY (1969)

58

A BANNER flapping in the breeze:

WELCOME HOME RON KOVIC

SUPPORT OUR BOYS IN VIETNAM.

Silence, surreal.

JULY 4, PARADE - MASSAPEQUA, harking back to the nighttime parade sequence when Ron was a young boy. But now it is a harsh summer sun - DAY - burnt out streets. A glare...and the silence.

THE CROWD shading its eyes from the glare - a tension in the air.

THE HIGH SCHOOL MARCHING BAND is almost past...a DRUM FX in the distance...something coming up the street.

THE SOFT PURR of a big CADILLAC CONVERTIBLE moving down Broadway, FX of this SOUND strong in surrounding SILENCE as we MOVE UP into the car and see a LEGION DRIVER and LEGION COMMANDER, both in peaked hats, waving to the crowd... and MOVING

... into the back seat, RON looking out at the crowd with a tight nervous smile. A flag is draped across the back of the car...

PAST THE 7 & 11 STORE - TEENAGERS coming in and out with purchases, pointing...PAST THE CROWD, silent, few of them waving, just staring at RON like a ghost come back from the dead - uneasy; an aquarium feeling with the yellows of the sun bouncing off the Massapequa architecture...PAST Sparky the Barber's ("Unisex Haircuts Now $4.96") and SPARKY in his barber's uniform waving ...

The town has truly changed -- modernized, more commercial, more signs, the sixties finally crawling over the fifties...

RON watching...DRUMS in background...once he was staring from this sidewalk, up at his heroes. Now he is the hero - and he's a Martian.

A LITTLE BOY at the edge of the sidewalk turns to his MOTHER.

LITTLE BOY

Who is he, mom?

MOM

(in conjunction with the silence)

He was wounded in Vietnam, shhhhh...

A beat. The LITTLE BOY looking back at him, worshipful.

LITTLE BOY

When I grow up, can I be in the parade like him?

MOM pulls her child closer.

59 EXT. FOURTH OF JULY CEREMONY - DAY (1969)

59

A WOODEN PLATFORM with red, white, blue bunting. POLITICIANS, DIGNITARIES...

A CHOIR of CHILDREN sing "Oh say can you see..." as RON rolls down the platform past them, directed by one of the LEGION COMMANDERS to his position on the podium

TIMECUT TO:

59A THE LEGION COMMANDER is a vigorous middle-aged man of Korean vintage, speaking effectively at the podium.

LEGION COMMANDER

Today is July the Fourth and I believe in America!....and I believe in Americanism.

THE CROWD fighting the heat and the glare. A FATHER catching his 6 year old son and spanking him hard.

FATHER

I told you never to do that!

RON on the platform, looking out into the crowd seeing HIS FAMILY close to the platform MOM and DAD holding hands...with TOMMY, JIMMY (18), SUSANNE (23), PATTY(13), JACKIE (8)....

LEGION COMMANDER (continuing)

Some people are starting to say the war is wrong, that we shouldn't be there. There are some people who would like to tear our country down -- but who're the kids who are defending their right to protest?...

He turns and points at RON.

LEGION COMMANDER

These are the kids who care about this country. These are the kids who went over there, just like we did once, who are putting their lives on the line everyday for Freedom and Democracy, so you and I here in Massapequa can live free...

A GROUP of TEENAGERS watching - silent.

A GROUP of BUSINESSMEN - equally silent...

RON watching, uncomfortable at being singled out.

LEGION COMMANDER

...These are the kids...from Massapequa and all the towns across the country, the kids who never had the chance to go to college, kids who respect their flag, their parents, their Government, and their religion...kids like Joey Walsh. He was the first and we got a street over in the park named after him.

THE PARENTS of Joey Walsh, a mid-40's blue-collar couple, looking down.

LEGION COMMANDER (OVER)

And Danny Topinka...Billy Vorsovich...

A WITHERED WOMAN with her equally pale DAUGHTER, like a Wyeth painting.

LEGION COMMANDER (OVER)

Phil and Larry Powell...

The WOMAN makes a shivering gesture of the head, like a wounded bird.

LEGION COMMANDER - very emotional now.

LEGION COMMANDER

RON listening - ironic he is not dead.

CROWD AND COMMANDER -

LEGION COMMANDER (OVER)

This town's been hit hard, it's always been hit hard...Ask Doc over there, he was in the First War, a lot of us were in the Second, and Mayor Vorisak and me were in Korea... and that's why we can't give up, that's why we're gonna win in Vietnam ...because ...because Massapequa's been there before and because of those six wonderful boys and...

(voice quivering, pointing his finger) and because of him!

RON inclines his head and stares into his lap.

THE CROWD clapping - fighting the heat and the glare.

His parents clapping but TOMMY obviously doesn't share this feeling, looking down. His MOM pushes him on the shoulder. DAD restrains her.

COMMANDER motioning.

LEGION COMMANDER

Ron, come over here and say a few words.. would you, please?

(to crowd)

Ron Kovic, folks, was born on the Fourth of July, 1946 - so let's give him a big hand on this great birthday...

RON looking - why does he have to speak? APPLAUSE, OFF.

SHARP LOW ANGLE with FX SOUND - as HANDS move reluctantly onto wheels of the chair and spin it towards the podium where the COMMANDER waits...across squeaky wooden flooring, bumping, SOUND, magnified with the tension he feels in the chair.

RON moving to the podium in FG with CROWD in BG - the first time he has addressed a crowd. RON - shifts in his seat, very nervous.

RON

I - uh - just want to say...for all the guys in Vietnam...that we're...doing our best...

His legs start to spasm, and he tries to control it -- making flurries of movement - hands to chest, to belly, onto wheel. Gulps hard, suddenly, as if trying to breathe...more and more hesitant, a circle closing tighter and tighter on itself.

He gulps hard again, the wave rising up involuntarily from his belly area, his hands going there, surprised and writhing in his seat, trying to find a more comfortable position.

RON

and you can be, you can be real...

His head drops forward, he gulps. He can't go on. He's crying.

RON

I'm sorry...I'm sorry...

ANOTHER ANGLE - linking RON and the CROWD waiting.

MOM worried...

THE COMMANDER and DIGNITARIES looking at one another; the COMMANDER moving RON off...

...past the banner: WELCOME HOME OUR VIETNAM VETERAN RON KOVIC.

RON'S FAMILY comes up to the platform, as they get him down to the ground.

DAD

You okay Ronnie?

MOM

It's alright, Ronnie, it's gonna be okay..
You did your best.

TOMMY

...just give him some air willya Mom.

The CROWD watching. An embarrassing silence before the LEGION COMMANDER gets back to the podium...

LEGION COMMANDER

...and we'll continue fighting 'cause of boys like Ron Kovic and the sacrifice he made will not be in vain...like he said, we're gonna win that war! Now let's have a round of applause for the man who's done so much for Massapequa...

RON under his breath, shocked, almost doesn't recognize his friend.

RON

Timmy? That you?

TIMMY

O'Jesus man!

HUGS RON really tight, burying his face in his shoulder. The CROWD watching all around them.

RON

(over Timmy's shoulder)
...I heard you were still... When'd you get out?

As TIMMY pulls back, RON is shocked:

TIMMY - the same boyish look, light skin, freckles, but a SCAR now, like a clean crack in an eggshell, all the way across his forehead.

The face is old, now permanently wounded, the eyes where death lives.

TIMMY

Man, I...Man I...Man I...

THE CROWD, curious, pressing closer.

TIMMY feeling their stress, looks back at RON who is silent looking at his friend's scar.

TIMMY

C'mon, let's get out of here... Let me help, Mr. Kovic.

DAD

Yeah, sure, Timmy...

As TIMMY takes the back handles of the chair and begins pushing him THROUGH THE CROWD - a silence as people part for them...the two cripples, one pushing the other, forging their own parade.

RON

Come on, tell me.

He wants to hear the names again.

TIMMY

Well, let's see, Bobby Moore at first, Harry Silvanti at short, Grady Rogers third...

RON

No! No! Rogers got sick...it was Finelli at third.

TIMMY

...Yeah, you're right! Tommy Finelli. He hit .512 one year. I remember that year, yeah...He got hit in the First...an RPG.. just blew him away...they couldn't even find him.

RON

Rick Jones in left...Billy Vorsovich in right, he could hit, he had the power!

TIMMY

Yeah, but he was always flunking English.

He had a hard time with English. You know he got killed by one of his own mortars up at the DMZ.

I was paralyzed and castrated that day -- why? 'Cause I was so stupid -- and I'd have my dick and my balls now and I think... PASSENGERS hurrying to the exits, then: DONNA appears coming the other way - looking for him. She has grown into a beautiful, young woman.

RON sees her - before she sees him. A leap of the soul. As if for one moment he can stretch up out of the chair and walk to her again.

RON looking at her as if he agrees with everything she said. She takes it as a signal to go on...

DONNA

Did you see the killings on television? Kent State? It's as if the war's happening right here, now. That girl laying in that pool of blood in the parking lot. RON

So what are you gonna do with yourself after school?

DONNA

That essay changed my life -- it taught me that people have a right to stand up and speak out when an injustice is being done -- that it's their obligation, their duty as human beings. Gandhi believed that one person with the Truth was a majority...could win...even women are fighting for their rights Ronnie...

They are in a secluded area of the quad, under a tree. She stops, comes around, thrusting out her breasts defiantly at him in her t-shirt.

DONNA

I'm proud of who I am as a woman. I believe in Woman's Liberation. I feel like nothing's holding me back now. I can do anything I want to do, be anything I want to be. I never felt prouder than I do right now about being a woman, Ronnie. Nothing can stop us.

RONNIE looking at her. All healthy sexuality, pride, defiance. He's inspired.

RON

It sounds really beautiful Donna...

Cicadas buzzing in the Spring night...a COUPLE making out quietly near them...guitar music from the distance...feelings of nostalgia invade him.

DONNA

(inviting)

Then join us Ron...you can make a difference, we need people like you...

He rocks in his chair, to an old memory of music, as if it's a night long ago.

RON

... remember the night of the prom Donna?
Remember? "Moon River...wider than the sea...my huckleberry friend..."

Singing, eyes closing, weaving in the chair like a happy idiot, willing to make fun of himself in front of her but enjoying the memory...

But to DONNA it has another sadder implication which she can't transcend. She hates the out-of-fashion romanticism...and is surprised by it here and now...

RON

Remember?

DONNA

Of course.

RON

(singing)
"Moon River...for me" (finishes) Boy was I crazy that night. Running through the rain to get there...to dance with you. What an idiot hunh.

DONNA nods, sickened. He seems to have totally missed the point of her woman's liberation theme. She attempts a smile, trying to share the spirit. Everything he says now sounds totally misplaced, yet felt.

RON

I just had to dance with you 'fore I went in, y'know... It was like... It was like I knew it...

He doesn't notice her discomfort, takes her hand.

RON

...an' I made you that promise that I'd come back...an' I'd love you forever...

DONNA

(knowing where this is going)
Oh Ron, please don't...you don't have to...

RON trying to keep it light, nostalgic, but...

RON

No. I wanted so much... I wanted to keep it together for you Donna, you know, to come back from that war a bigger, better...Man. A hero...whatever...(a little laugh, embarassed) I think that's why I always tried to be the best -- baseball, wrestling...

I wanted you to see me at my best, I don't know why that is with people, but...you know it's like...it's never enough... It's like you do something at twelve 'cause you wanna show everybody you can be fifteen, and when you're fifteen you wanna be eighteen, and when you're eighteen you wanna be twenty-one, you really wanna be a man so you go out and join up and you go to...War...and War is like this big secret see -- it's something only a few people in this country really know about -- and you think if you know what that secret is...then you think ah! Then finally at last, I'll be a man... and when I'm a Man -- then I'm gonna have you "Donna" -- ...like you're part of a timepiece you know... when I'm twenty-one I'm gonna have Donna and that's just the way it is...and everything... everything I ever did, hitting that home run that day you were up in the stands with that stupid guy and that crazy song playing "awalking in the rain...awhooo whooo whoo whoo..." was for you Donna...it was for you. (pause). I wanted to shine. I really wanted to shine for you, Donna... 'cause I loved you...goddamnit I really loved you...I just never told you.. (exhales, a long beat) Jesus!

He's crying against his will as she reaches out, bewildered, lost, her eyes shut with pain, and puts her hand on his cheeks, trying too late to erase the tears.

66 EXT. SYRACUSE CAMPUS - DAY (1970)

The STUDENTS have taken over a BUILDING -- waving protest banners and flags from the windows. Starting to trash the place now -- desks, papers, file cabinets being thrown out the windows onto the lawns.

...as RON looks on with DONNA and her BOYFRIEND, a tall, lean intellectual young man of pleasant demeanor..."Peace Now" and "Stop the War" buttons. They are in a LARGE GROUP in the center of the quadrangle listening to one of the SPEAKERS, a young, black Veteran in cut off fatigues, his medals pinned to his chest.

A huge roar from the agitated crowd, sensing the POLICE closing in.

YOU ARE ORDERED TO DISPERSE. YOU HAVE FIVE MINUTES. THIS IS AN UNLAWFUL ASSEMBLY. IF YOU DO NOT DISPERSE, YOU WILL BE ARRESTED.

Seeing him, RON tries to shrink back as the VET gives him a high-fiver... The VET seeming to know RON is a vet.

VET
Hey brother, Larry Boyle, what's happening man.

RON Ron Kovic.

VET
Welcome brother...to the War at home... You gotta get up there, man, say a few words to these dudes. Wake 'em up man...

RON
No. No. Not today. Thanks anyway...

VET
(looking him right in the eye)
Peace, Ron...and welcome home...

He goes... RON stirred, something in him reluctantly moved by the man... DONNA noticing it, smiles...

SPEAKER
We're the ones put our bodies on the line -- for people who didn't even care about us when we came home. I loved this country once...

The SPEAKER now rips the medals from his chest and brandishes them in his hands...

SPEAKER
...And all this I won over there...the Purple
Heart, the Bronze Star, all the Commendation Medals and the rest of this garbage...don't mean a thing. FUCK THIS SHIT.

Shaking with emotion, he hurls them into the distance...

RON is shocked. He's never seen or heard something like this. As he catches DONNA'S eyes for a moment.

She has her fist in the air yelling "RIGHT ON, BURN, BABY, BURN!"
Beautiful yet cruel in her anger, she embodies the revolution, RON looks away.

The CROWD is getting crazier -- now lighting up a straw effigy of Nixon, a mask of his face at the top.

A friendly rushed smile, wheeling him out...his POV on DONNA receding, swept away in the angry CROWD... A quick look to him but she has no time caught up in the NEXT SPEAKER, the ANGRY REVEREND.

ANGRY REVEREND

Is this going to be another Kent State? Is that what you policemen want? Do you have to kill your kids to protect your government, your authority, your homes? Do you think they're a bunch of bums like Spiro Agnew said? They're not bums...

The first of the gas cannisters goes off...

THE BACK ROOM - A GIRL, JENNY, in jeans playing pool, cigarette to lips, lining up a shot.

RON is in his chair on the outside of a corner booth with TIMMY, several beer pitchers in front of them. With them are TWO GUYS in their 40's, crewcuts, windbreakers with 'Brigadeer Factory Renegades Baseball Team' written across the back. MOM looking up at him, questioning eyes...

RON

No. Not in school. Not as a Marine. Not here...No place.

He waits. They share a look.

MOM

What can I do Ronnie? What do you want me to do?

She reaches out, touches his face, tenderly...

RON

I don't know...I don't know...

Bewildered. He doesn't know. He sighs and in one powerful gesture, not fraught with malice but with anger and confusion, he SNAPS the plastic crucifix in two pieces and...

ANOTHER ANGLE -- tosses the pieces at her feet.

RON

Keep it...

79 INT. RON'S BEDROOM/BATH/HALL - NIGHT

79

DAD lifts RON from his chair to his bed. In his arms. A moment. The two pieces of the crucifix. RON's two arms flopping over and his pants down, DAD gently lowers him into the bed...then removes his piss-soaked pants...undoes the broken urine bag...

Runs a warm washcloth along the legs, cleaning him. A stoic calm tenderness.

RON

(regretful, eyes closed)
I'm fucked up...I'm fucked up.

DAD

Ronnie...maybe a little trip is all you need...that place down in Mexico you were talkin' about? Maybe some rest...

RON

I don't wanna go to Mexico. I don't wanna go no place.

DAD

(rubbing him)
What can I do Ronnie, what do you want?

RON

(murmuring)

I want a woman, Dad, I want somebody to love me...I wanna be free again. I wanna walk in the backyard on the grass. I wanna put my bare feet in the ocean. I wanna run along the sand and feel it on my feet. I wanna stand up in the shower with the hot water streaming down my legs, in the morning...I wanna explode, Dad. I wanna get out of this crazy fucking body I'm in...

(about to cry)

I wanna be a man again...I just wanna be a man again.

DAD moving rigidly, now connects RON's catheter tube to the long plastic tube that runs adjacent the bed...and closes the bedside lamp.

In the dark, a quiet sob.

RON

Good night Dad...

DAD

Good night...son.

Producing a mescal bottle with a dead worm floating near the quarter mark.

CHARLIE

RON laughs. A LOUD EXPLETIVE from across the table.

ANOTHER ANGLE - as VET 1 slams his losing cards on the table.

SILENT VET

Don't stay here man, get the fuck out!

CHARLIE

(drinking from the bottle)
Y'ever try fucking with a blowdryer?

The SILENT VET pulling away.

RON

(bewildered)
No...never.

CHARLIE

On the nipples, over the ears - it ain't bad.

A somewhat malevolent cast to his face -

CHARLIE

You know what they say. If you don't have it in the hips buddy, you better have it in the lips...

and lips)

Big Ass!

Pinching her in the ass hard, she squeals.

HIGH ANGLE - BAR - some 20 MEN, local and tourist types, wait at the various tables. RON is the only paraplegic, drinking tequila. The patterns in the room shift and settle as the whores sit with the chosen customers, leaving Ron conspicuously alone, aware of his isolation.

THE PAINTED FACES, all ages...a jukebox PLAYS...A YOUNG WHORE, snapping her pocketmirror shut, comes over to him, a gold tooth in her mouth, a look like a mouse around a crippled cat...

RON nervously looking away from her stare, drinking.

(genuine)
Nice place...

WHORE

What?

RON

Nothing.

WHORE

Dinero...Quince dolares...

Movements, paper sounds as he passes his roll, uncaring. She takes what she wants...and a little more...

RON, tense, slowly taking off his shirt on the bed watching as THE WHORE, glowing reddish against the curtains, takes off her clothes in two quick easy gestures...

WHORE

Why don't you take off?

RON

WHORE
Yes!

Moving to undo his pants' buckle.

RON
No, please! Please no!

Prevents her. The WHORE points to his chest.

WHORE
Que es? Que es.

ANOTHER ANGLE -her finger pointing to a tiny bullethole in his right shoulder, reddened scar tissue.

RON
No...never...my spine. It broke my spine.

OVERHEAD ANGLE -- flesh moving, the crucifix...

HIS CRYING EYES -- buried between her thighs...

WHORE

Si! Si! Es guapo! Bonita!

THE WHORE arching, thrashing as he licks her off...she is muttering something like "Ay Dios! Que signes, que bueno...mata, mata!"

RON, in a happy mood, wheels back towards his casa in the VILLAGE that NIGHT. Snatches of GUITARS off, RADIOS...intersecting VET 2 from the poker game. He is motorized in an electric wheelchair, his head bobbing as he croaks a MEXICAN SONG to himself...

We FOLLOW him as RON wheels past.

RON up the ramp into his room. Very austere, one bed, one chair, one table, a glass and tin pitcher of water. A whining VOICE from an adjacent room, separated by a cheap partition.

VOICE

Nina?...Nina? Is that you? Who's that!

RON

It's me. Ron.

(slurring)
Is that you? Will you get somebody for me?
Will you get Nina for me? Somebody?...Ron?

A detached voice, with no body. RON, trying to ignore it, pours himself a shot from the mescal bottle on the cheap coffee table.

RON watches, smiling.

HIS POV - the MADAME intersecting MARIA ELENA at the foot of the stairs and telling her something and MARIA ELENA now looking over with a tired expression...now fixing a smile as she sees him.

ELENA

Oh, the one from Vietnam...Si....

RON sees it and draws the GIFT-WRAPPED PRESENT discreetly across the table and into his pocket, ashamed that he's gone too far as:

She is next to the table now, with a weary smile.

ELENA

So - today we get married no?

RON

Sure, why not -

She plants a kiss on his cheek...his eyes.

A SECOND BUSINESSMAN intersects, patting her ass.

MAN

Hey, Elena, c'mere, c'mon...Sweetheart.

89 INT. 2ND MEXICAN WHOREHOUSE - NIGHT (1970)

2ND WHORE

You go. Is my place. You get out. No come back...

She starts laughing at him in a savage, low key way. He glowers back at her...wanting to hit her...catching himself...

90 INT. RON'S CASA & RAMP - DAY (1970)

RON drinking more mezcal as he tries to scrawl a postcard home. He tears it up...pulls out a rumpled old letter he's never sent, folded into little parts from his address book...he unfolds it.. nearby we notice copies of "Jonny Got His Gun", "All Quiet on the Western Front", a biography of Gandhi...

His eyes reading the old letter, water marked.

INSERT: LETTER: "Dear Mr. and Mrs. Wilson...I don't know how to tell you this. I knew your son in Vietnam. He was..."

He stops...something defeated in his eyes. He knows he will never send this letter... he ponders it as the VOICE from the other side of the wall becomes onerous...

JOE

(slurring, crying)

Nina!...Nina!...Nina!...Nina!

RON

Shit!

JOE

Nina! Nina! Where are you!

Exasperated, RON puts the letter back in the address book, rolls to the door of the bedroom.

...bottles of liquor strewn around the bed, half eaten food, cockroaches, the smell of death. RON approaching - into the darkness...

JOE rises up, and stares at RON. He has the most beautiful pathetic eyes, now watery with pain and delirium, and a body like a skeleton, incandescent with high fever, close to death.

In a weak moving voice, obstinate:

JOE
Is that you Ron? ...Can you help me? Can you help me?...

RON reaches his hand in - and soothes JOE'S face.

RON
You're hot Joe...You gotta bad fever...you gotta go back to Dallas, Joe. Have you seen your bed sores, they're gettin' worse all the time. You gotta go back to the V.A..

JOE
(shaking his head)
No way man...never gonna go back!

RON
You got blood in your urine, Joe. Let me call somebody for you, let me call somebody.

JOE
Nina...get Nina, Ron.

RON
Nina's gone, Joe! She won't come back. She left 3 months ago. She won't come back.

JOE

RON Mas!

VOICE

 That goddamn fucking slut!

CHARLIE from the poker game, a sombrero on his head and a serape, rolls out from the curtains in the back, angry and drunk and hurt.

CHARLIE

Yeah...yeah...

LONG SHOT - the DRIVER slamming the door of the truck. RON AND CHARLIE huddled together inside...and the TRUCK pulls out, framed by the hills.

MUSIC THEME -

97 EXT./INT. BUS IN GEORGIA - DAY (1970)

97

DAY - riding past farm fields, down a road - now in a Greyhound Bus.

RON looking out.

PAST A ROAD SIGN - MILLAN, GEORGIA - POP: 9,901.

98 EXT. GEORGIA TOWN BUS DEPOT - DAY (1970)

98

RON wheels off the BUS at the DEPOT - a spartan Main Street, agricultural community. He hesitates - almost ready to get back on the bus, which now departs.

99 EXT. GEORGIA CEMETERY - DAY (1970)

99

A CEMETERY -- hundreds of tombstones, mostly marked with Confederate flags indicating Civil War dead...

A BLACK CABDRIVER waits by his cab in the sleepy air...

RON rolls through the tombs, looking...

ANOTHER ANGLE -- he finds it...slowly coming to face it...

A TOMBSTONE is marked simply "William Charles Wilson, Born 1948. Died 1967 -- In the Service of His Beloved Country" ...

He falls into a state watching it...Him and Wilson. Locked in this strange cosmic dance across time...Interchangeable. He dead. Wilson alive. His ghost calling from the grave. "Remember me. Remember me...Tell them how I died. Tell them. That I did not die in Vain, Stumbling Confusion. Remember Me..." And RON is now hearing the SOUNDS of that last struggle on the windy grey beaches of Vietnam and the obscene CRASH of SHOTS and the gnashing, struggling SOUNDS of MEN screaming and dying...and WILSON'S BREATHING through his windpipe, gurgling in his own fetid blood as he dies, his big eyes staring up...as he rolls over and dies...and the SOUNDS die...

...and a voice breaks through time...snapping him out of it...

MAN'S VOICE

Hey, Bobby! Over here! ...come on...

A BOY, about 12, scampering by, looking at RON, a toy gun in his hand...

...as his DAD waves him over to another section of the cemetery. His MOM planting a flag on a grave there.

RON looks around. Back in present time. Knows what he has to do now...as he looks at the grave a beat longer, then unlocks his brakes and executes a military like right face and goes...

100 EXT. GEORGIA FARM & ROAD - DAY (1970)

100

The battered TAXI pulls up in a cloud of reddish dust towards at a FARMHOUSE isolated in flat, rolling hills. Some hanging cypresses shade the yard. It is hot, muggy, a broken swing, dilapidated porch, barn, peeling paint...

RON is getting out as DOGS bark off...

The MONGRELS running up, surrounding the taxi as RON waits in his chair.

MR. WILSON emerges from the house, curious, shooing the dogs away. He's in his late 50's, a poor farmer, sun-creased frame, deep rural accent.

MR. WILSON

Don't worry, they won't bite...Come on now, get away now, get yourselves away...they probably jes afraid of that chair there...

MRS. WILSON peeking through the screen door, holes in it, flies...a suspicious frown.

RON and MR. WILSON - the dogs have ceased barking, sniff around.. they're edgy around each other...

RON

...hello Mr. Wilson...I'm Ron...Thanks for...

MR. WILSON

Any friend of Billy's a friend of ours.
(gruffly)

Well, why don't you come on in, my wife fixed up some chicken you want some...
(turning back to the house)

CAROLYN WILSON, his gaunt wife now comes out onto the porch -- followed by a YOUNGER WOMAN, early 20s, JAIMIE, a tragic look on her face. With her is a BOY about three, a dumb look on his face...

RON seeing them from his approaching POV in the dust...

101 INT. WILSON'S HOUSE - DAY (1970)

101

CAROLYN serving coffee in the small LIVING ROOM to RON who is glancing through a photo album on his lap - flipping the pages politely... yet in total agony, the parents feeling it, wondering, fearing what is going to happen.

RON

Thank you...

MR. WILSON

Yes sir, it was some funeral. Marine Honor Guard came all the way down from Atlanta in their fancy uniforms, fired their rifles up into the sky, the drums were beating...

Sitting on the couch, bounding the LITTLE BOY, 3, in his lap.. JAIMIE in her chair, docile...mementoes from World War Two on the mantle next to a picture of Billy.

MR. WILSON

Course it was nothing like the Big War hundred years ago down here but there was.. Billy...and Bruce - Bruce Crabtree...and Andy Henderson.

MRS. WILSON

And the Rutledge boy...Lance.

MR. WILSON

Yeah...Lance, nice boy.

RON looking over at JAIMIE.

JAIMIE looking at him.

MR. WILSON

For the life of me, I still can't quite figger that war out...why we had to go all that danged way to fight it...why's we had to lose all those young men. I can't figger that out - but... we got a proud tradition in this town. Billy's great grandfather, he was at First Bull Run, and my pa was over in France in 16.

MRS. WILSON

- and don't you forget now you were over in the Pacific in 44. Guadalcanal...

RON

- Is that right?

MR. WILSON

Yeah...well we probably fought in every war this country's ever had Fondling the BOY on his lap, stoic.

A look of pain on the MOTHER's face...RON about to speak - checks it. His eyes falling on the photo album across his knee.

A PHOTO of BILLY - in full combat gear, grenades, rifle, bandoleers - chest puffed out, a big grin, especially staged for his wife and parents back home...

ON RON - grief...a lot of grief all of a sudden.

MRS. WILSON

Course they never quite knew how it happened and all. There was this letter from his Colonel, I think it was...

RON

Colonel Moore...

MR. WILSON

That's right, Colonel Moore. And it said there was this real bad ambush one night. Told us Billy "distinguished" himself in the fighting. Told us Billy died real quick. That's good...he died real quick.

A pause. Everybody looking around the room now, bounding looks off each other...

RON

I was...his squad leader. I didn't know Billy real well. He was new, kinda quiet.. We didn't talk much to the new guys...he was about 19 wasn't he?

MR. WILSON

That's right. 19.

Pause.

RON

Yeah I think he told me he was married and you were pregnant...

JAIMIE says nothing but EYES.

RON

...I was there the day he was killed...It was a strange day. We went out on a patrol near a beach area. It was very confusing...there was a lot of screaming and firing and it was getting dark...and... and there were these children...these babies...that we killed... by mistake. We shot up a whole bunch of villagers...

MRS. WILSON

How awful...

RON

(struggling now)

...then it got real dark and we had to pull back...and we...and we got all scattered up and down, in the dunes...in the dunes we got scattered...we were feeling real awful about the babies...people were making no sense, they were yelling anything, firing at anything...it was...it was a nightmare.. and...that's when your son was killed...

(pause)

...that was when it happened. He was the last one to come back over the dune and.. this is very difficult for me to say...but I think...

(pause)

I think I may have killed your son that night. I think I was the one...he was coming at me. And I was scared. I was confused. And I raised my rifle three times... the shots...and the body fell in the dune...

The SOUNDS of the battle lightly etched in over the Speaker. Haunting him...

The face of JAIMIE...moving to MR. and MRS. WILSON... mute as if they knew...or really what difference did it ultimately make who killed their son. Their pity, their terror is not for themselves or their boy, dead long ago...but for RON who's in agony, crying now...

RON

...I'm sorry. I just had to come here to tell you. I've been afraid for years to come here...But...I've lived with this long enough. I can't live with it anymore... I can't bring him back. Forgive me...I want to live. I want to go on with my life. I'm sorry but that's what happened. That's the way it happened...and I can't change a thing...

It sits there in the air...the eyes of JAIMIE say it all...

MRS. WILSON

We sure understand, Ron, we sure understand the pain you've been going through.

MRS. WILSON

...can I get you some more coffee Ron?

Silence. Both older people are very shaken, maintaining a calm surface. The eyes of JAIMIE concede nothing. RON knows -- the forgiveness can only be given by himself.

RON

I gotta go now...I know you want to be alone...I'm sorry...

As he goes...

JAIMIE

(at the door)

...what's done is done, sir. I can't ever forgive you. But maybe the Lord can...

He looks back. Her eyes. Haunting, forever-accountable eyes. He goes.

02 EXT. WILSON HOUSE

102

LONG OVERHEAD ANGLE -- as RON exits the house and rolls down the steps...the dogs barking again...the MUSIC drifting up of light pipe and drum chords set soft to "When Johnnie Comes Marching Home Again -- hurrah hurrah..." carrying into the next scene...

103 EXT. MIAMI CONVENTION CENTER - NIGHT (1972)

103

MUSIC - BOOTS on pavement...MOVING UP to:

A PIPER AND A DRUMMER AND ANOTHER YOUNG MAN carrying a U.S. flag with the stars and stripes sewn upside down on the cloth - all of them in Vietnam Veteran fatigues, utilities, boots, medals, the drummer wearing a symbolically bloodied bandage across his forehead...

FOLLOWED by a ragtime army of YOUNG PEOPLE whistling in haunting rhythms to "When Johnny Comes Marching Home Again" down a large MIAMI AVENUE fringed by palm trees - many of them women, many of them vets with bush hats, medals, long hair, beards, mustaches, tough eyes, road tired...their cars draped with slogans and VC or VVAW flags...

RON now has a full mustache and is unshaven, his hair longer than ever...a banner above their heads: STOP THE WAR - VIETNAM VETERANS AGAINST THE WAR -- "hurray! hurrah!" up from the song...

As SPECTATORS watch from the sidewalks or porches...ANGRY MEN.. CHEERING MEN...OLD JEWISH LADIES on their verandas...mostly neutral, curious looks...

SECRET SERVICE cars trailing...suits, earplugs, walkie talkies.

COPS in full riot gear filing out of a TRUCK on a quiet street. STATIC of a walkie talkie..."proceed to 5th and Cyprus...cordon off...contain...separate...the hippies...marijuana busts...traffic violations..." ...SOUNDS of the WHISTLING MARCHERS in the distance.

104 INT. MIAMI CONVENTION CENTER - NIGHT (1972)

104

Into an ocean of thundering SOUND...

RON and the TWO OTHER PARAS are in the hall, wheeling their way closer to the stage...

with them is a FOURTH MAN, a redheaded guy with a beard, floppy bush hat, jungle fatigues who is pushing RON at the parade. He's inside now, and helping push RON and the TWO OTHERS.

...past the YOUNG REPUBLICANS yelling "FOUR MORE YEARS. FOUR MORE YEARS!!"

...past MEN and WOMEN in summer suits with happy Republican pink faces looking with some concern and possibly apprehension at these three scruffy Vietnam Vets rolling into their midst...

A NEWS CAMERA filming them. RON angling into the camera, playing the crowd looking for people to listen.

RON

Do you hear me? Can I break through your complacency? Can I have an inch...a moment of your compassion for the human beings who are suffering in this war...do you hear me when I say this war is a crime... when I say I am not as bitter about my wound as the men who have lied to the people of this country...do you hear me?

But they hear nothing. Deaf, blind, dumb, roaring for their leader as he now appears...the sound waves rolling up the hall...

Mr. Chairman, delegates to this convention, my fellow Americans...

105 INTERCUT RON speaking at the same time to a NEWS CAMERA.

105

RON

WHY DO THEY WANT TO HIDE US? Why won't they let the veterans of that war speak tonight? Because they don't wanna know, they don't wanna see us, they wanna hide us because they've lied and cheated to us for so long -- but we're not gonna run away and hide anymore, we're going to win because we LOVE this country. We love this country more than they could ever know. We fought for it, we gave our bodies because we loved it and believed in everything it stood for and tonight we're ashamed of it, and we've come from all the little towns, thousands of us to get this country back again, to make it whole again. Truth, honesty, integrity - this is the lost American dream here tonight, and we're gonna take it back!

106 INTERCUT CLIP - NIXON

106

Talking about Vietnam. The completely counter argument about ideals, patriotism, ideology - the basis of the Cold War. Cognent, coherent, something we've all heard before -- and totally false to its core.

107 INTERCUT RON -- to the cameras. He has become a professional 107 orator now, his voice and eyes and overall intensity the same RON but older now, polished, a political leader.

RON

We're never never gonna let the people of the United States forget that war, because the moment we do, there's gonna be another war and another, and another, that's why we're gonna be there for the rest of our lives telling you that the war happened, it just wasn't some nightmare, it happened and you're not gonna sweep it under the rug because you didn't like the ratings like some television show...this wheelchair...this steel is your Memorial day on wheels, your yankee doodle...

RON

Is that what we get! Spit in the face! I've got as much right to be here as any of these delegates! I FOUGHT FOR THAT RIGHT. YOU'RE NOT GOING TO STOP ME! YOU'RE NOT GONNA TO SHUT ME UP! I'M GONNA REMIND YOU OF THIS WAR FOR THE REST OF MY LIFE SO WHAT HAPPENED THERE NEVER HAPPENS AGAIN...

THE SECRET SERVICE AGENTS now making their move to shut the commotion down...a GROUP of them rush down, throwing up their arms, surrounding the wheelchairs, trying to block the TV coverage on RON.

PARAPLEGICS

THE SUBTITLE READS: "FOUR YEARS LATER - THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION - MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK CITY, JULY 15, 1976"

From a very wide shot of the Convention, where RON is introduced by the LOUDSPEAKER, we cut to an EXTREME CLOSE UP of RON as he starts his address, pulling out to reveal his face...the podium..the flags...as he speaks...

RON

I am the living death. You're Memorial Day on wheels. I am your Yankee Doodle Dandy. Your John Wayne come home. Your Fourth of July firecracker Exploding in the grave... Twelve years ago when I was 18 years old, I left Massapequa, Long Island and joined the United States Marines...I wanted to serve my country...I wanted to be a good American... I couldn't wait to fight my first war, and I went with the others like our fathers before us with hope in our hearts and dreams of great victory...

Blending into the MUSIC THEME now...of tragedy overcome. Of life renewed...

The music is joyous as we can cut to a series of SHOTS of the Veterans marching down Manhattan streets in their 1984 Welcome Home Parade -- and the real RON KOVIC as he is now in 1988 -- still fighting for "Truth, Justice, and the American Way".
